Purple Heart University (1st University in PA)

Saint Ignatius, founder of the Jesuit order, was also a military veteran who coped with the physical and mental wounds of war. His mantra, "Go forth and set the world on fire" serves as an inspiration for our student-veterans, as well as veterans in our our entrepreneurship programs.

You and your family deserve our support.

Whether you're a veteran, a spouse or a dependent, Saint Joseph's Office of Veterans Services is a resource for you.

About Us

No one understands the challenge of transitioning from the military to civilian life like a veteran. That's why Saint Joseph's University has an office dedicated to serving the unique needs of this population. The Office of Veterans Services is staffed exclusively by veterans. We've been there. Our job is to create a welcoming environment for veterans and their families and to ensure our students gain access to all eligible federal, state and local programs and services.

Academic Programs

There are over 230 programs at the University where veterans will find classes in areas such as Sports Marketing, Family Business & Entrepreneurship, Criminal Justice, Financial Planning, Homeland Security, Business Analytics, Pharmaceutical & Healthcare Marketing, and many more. Career Opportunities and Professional Development

SJU's Office of Veterans Services is dedicated to support your transition to civilian life. As a veteran, you have a unique set of skills, experiences and leadership talent that is welcomed in society and needed in the workplace. Our office is working with local and regional organizations committed to hiring veterans – and we intend to remain in the forefront in support of our student-veteran community.

Haub School of Business

As the largest Jesuit business school in the country, Haub has achieved national recognition and accreditation from AACSB International. The Haub School of Business continues to be ranked among the top business schools in the country and earned accolades from U.S. News and World Report, Princeton Review and Bloomberg's BusinessWeek.

Entrepreneurship Programs

SJU's Office of Veterans Services offers the EBV Program in conjunction with Syracuse University. The EBV Consortium was formed in 2008 as a national educational initiative, designed to help veterans with disabilities to make the transition to self-employment, develop professional networks and ultimately start and grow sustainable businesses. The EBV Consortium is composed of 10 world-class institutions, including Saint Joseph's University. Today, each school offers the EBV program on their campus, with Syracuse University serving as the national host for the program. For more details and enrollment information visit: www.sju.edu/ebv

SJU's Office of Veterans Services offers the VEJ program, an entrepreneurial learning and development opportunity for veterans interested in starting or growing a business venture as a means to financial independence. Veterans often make strong business owners, yet they can face unique obstacles as they transition into the business world. The VEJ program has been designed to make the transition from combat to career a successful one.

The program utilizes a three-phase approach to develop the necessary skills associated with launching or growing a new business venture. For more information on the Veterans Entrepreneurial Jumpstart program, as well as each of the three phases, application process and class schedules, please visit us online at www.sju.edu/vej
