FALL 2017 lab-based natural science courses for non-majors

These courses are open for all students in any major outside of the natural sciences.

Students registering must sign up for the lecture and a corresponding laboratory section.

Completion of one of these courses satisfies the Natural Sciences Requirement of the GEP

BIO 165/165L: Exploring the Living World
- Learn about the roles of cells, heredity & evolution in shaping the diversity of life on Earth
- 2 lecture sections
- 6 lab sections

ENV 106/106L: Exploring the Earth
- Global Climate Change is used to examine various aspects of Planet Earth.
- 1 lecture section
- 3 lab sections

PHY 115/115L: Investigations in Astronomy
- Examine our Universe and our ancestral heritage in the cosmos.
- 2 lecture sections
- 6 lab sections

- Learn about the nature of science and how scientific inquiry can occur in our everyday lives.
- Work in state-of-the-art, technology-equipped laboratories.
- Discuss and learn about current scientific news.