• Please note that science majors should request evaluations from 3 science and/or math professors and 1 from a humanities/social science professor. At least one of your evaluations must be from a professor in your major department.

• Non-science majors should include at least 2 evaluations from science/math professors and 2 from humanities/social science professors. At least one of your evaluations must be from a professor in your major department.

• If you have declared a minor, it is suggested, but not required, that one of your evaluations is from a professor in that area.

• If you would like to submit an additional reference from someone outside of the university such as a research mentor or health care professional with whom you have worked closely, that is acceptable (although not required) but it can not substitute for a faculty evaluation.
